What We Know Works
Which Districts Have Improved Student Achievement While Reducing Achievement Gaps?

  - Continuous development of highly qualified teachers

- Leading urban superintendents
- Principals
- Central office staff
Our Vision

EXCELLENCE FOR ALL
Mission Statement

The Pittsburgh Public Schools will be one of America’s premier school districts, student-focused, well-managed, and innovative.

We will hold ourselves accountable for preparing all children to achieve academic excellence and strength of character, so they have the opportunity to succeed in all aspects of life.
What We Believe
Declaration of Beliefs

- All children can learn at high levels
- Teachers have a profound impact on student development, and should have ample training, support and resources
- Education begins with a safe and healthy learning environment
- Families are an essential part of the educational process
- A commitment from the entire community is necessary to build a culture that encourages student achievement
- Improvement in education is guided by consistent and effective leadership
- Central office exists to serve students and schools
Where We Are
PPS is Facing a Serious Challenge in Terms of Both Resources and Student Outcomes

- Estimated 2007 operating deficit is $40+ million, in part because PPS had been structured as if we were still educating 50,000+ students versus the 30,000+ we actually have*

- Average outcomes for white students should be better, and average outcomes for African American students need to be dramatically accelerated

- Almost half (46%) of schools did not meet Adequate Yearly Progress (AYP) in 2005

- Almost half (46%) of schools received a low performance rating of 1 or 2 on the 5-point RAND scale

- Too many students are poorly prepared for post-secondary education and employment

* This deficit has been reduced from $72 million in the last 6 months through Right-Sizing and central office reductions
 Schools with a RAND SPI rating of 1 will either be closed or have a much enhanced educational program such as our Accelerated Learning Academies by September, 2006, in accordance with the Superintendent's Right-Sizing Plan
Enrollment is Declining

Bar chart showing the number of students from 1995 to 2009, with a decline in enrollment over the years. The data includes estimated values for 2009.
The educational program is fractured and poorly articulated.

Current learning goal setting reflects extremely low expectations about the performance of the city’s children.

There is not a sense of urgency at every level of the organization for substantially improving student achievement.

The District has a very weak accountability system.

Data systems are poorly linked to the decision-making process.

The District has not determined how well student performance on periodic assessments predicts results on state tests.
District Efforts Have Not Resulted in Systemic Progress

If your high school had demanded more of students, set higher academic standards, and raised the expectations of how much course work and studying would be necessary to earn a diploma, would you have worked harder to meet these expectations?

82% strongly feel they would have worked harder.

64% of college students said they would have worked harder.

63% of non-college students said they would have worked harder.

Knowing what you do today about the expectations of college/the work world, if you were able to do high school over again, would you have worked harder and applied yourself more to your coursework even if it meant less time for other activities?

- While increasing the achievement of all students, we will also accelerate the learning of children who have been historically short-changed by the system.

- All students, regardless of ethnicity, socio-economic status, or ability level will improve their proficiency.

- The achievement of African-American students in the Pittsburgh Public Schools will increase at a rate that is five percentage points greater than the gains of their peers.
Next Steps

- Broaden the communication of the District Reform Agenda
- Continue to work with the Board, staff, families and community members to develop the District Reform Agenda into a district-wide Strategic Plan
- Further develop a system of accountability for our work, including measurements for our non-academic goals
- This will always be a work-in-progress
