	I Am Every Good Thing Barnes, Derrick The confident Black narrator of this book is proud of everything that makes him who he is. He's got big plans, and no doubt he'll see them through--as he's creative, adventurous, smart, funny, and a good friend. Sometimes he falls, but he always gets back up. And other times he's afraid because he's so often misunderstood and called what he is not. So slow down and really look and listen when somebody tells you--and shows you--who they are. There are superheroes in our midst.	https://soraapp.com/library/acla/search/query-%20am%20every%20good%20thing/libraries-340188,88/page-1/88/5137099 (ebook)
	Facts vs. Opinions vs. Robots Rex, Michael Do you know the difference between a fact and an opinion? It can be a hard thing to understand. Some things are facts--like the number of robots in this book. Other things are opinions--like which robot would make the best friend or which robot dances best. And sometimes to tell the difference between a fact and an opinion, you need to wait to get more information--that's because facts can be proven true or false, and opinions are things you feel and believe--but that you can't prove.	https://soraapp.com/library/acla/search/query-facts%20opinions%20robots/libraries-340188,88/page-1/88/4729803 (ebook)
